More than 2,500 years ago, when a baby was born in Sparta, the father would check its body carefully. If the baby's body was deformed or not strong enough, the father would leave the baby in the mountains to die. Healthy babies would stay with parents. When they turned seven, they went to school. There, they didn't have enough food to eat and had to sleep on the floor. Besides that, their teachers made them run fast, jump high, and fight to stay alive. There were no quizzes or tests, but once a year, there was a game of stealing cheese. Students had to get pieces of cheese successfully, but their classmates would try to stop them by hitting them hard.

You may think doing homework is hard. However, your life is much easier than a Spartan student's. Would you want to trade your life with them?

Australian football is very popular in Australia. During ball season, so many Australians like to watch the games. The ball is very different from soccer ball, but it looks like American football. The Australian football field is big! Each team has 22 members. In the game, only 18 members from each team can play on the field. A game has four quarters, and each quarter has 20 minutes.

Australian football players can play in three ways: 1. Running. 2. Handballing. 3. Kicking.

After a kick of at least 15 meters, a player can try to catch the ball to take a "mark." Then he can choose to play on or kick the ball. No one can block him when he kicks. Of course the player can kick the ball to the goal square!

A goal square has two tall posts in the middle and two short posts on the right and the left.

▲ Goal (6 points) → Kick the ball and it goes through between the two tall posts.

▲ Behind (1 point) →

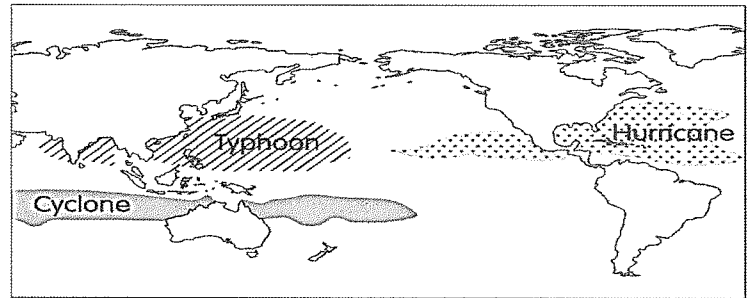

1. Kick the ball and it hits the post, or the ball goes through the space between the tall post and the short one.
2. Use handballing or running to have the ball go through the space between any two posts.
