五、閱讀測驗：每題 2 分，共 12 分。

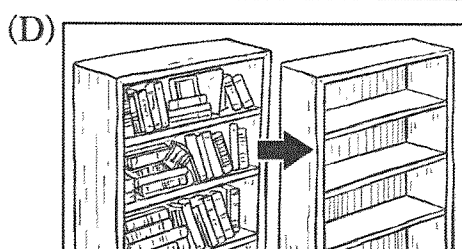

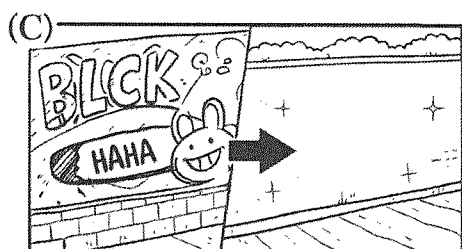

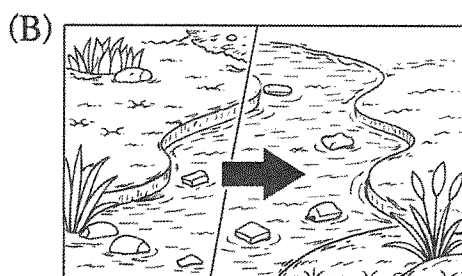

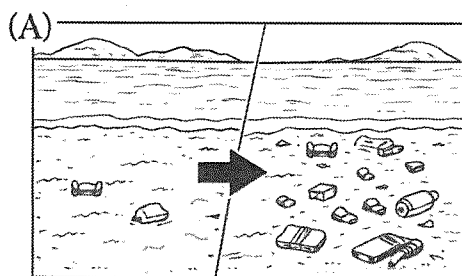

Have you ever seen the following sights? Someone threw away shoeboxes on the ground floor of an apartment. A few hours later, an unwanted bicycle was put there. Later in the day, more and more people brought down the garbage. Little by little, the place was filled with trash. However, the ground floor was not a dumping ground. When something bad has already been started, many people follow suit.

The same things happen at school as well. Someone is not caught cheating on the test. Seeing this, someone else will copy answers from others. Bullying is another case. If no one cares, more students will soon team up with the bully.

Such a thing is happening everywhere, and James Q. Wilson and George L. Kelling named it the broken windows theory. If a window is broken and not fixed, it will soon lead to many more broken windows. This means if something wrong is not being fixed, it will surely become worse and worse, and it may invite more serious mistakes. Then how can we stop the broken windows theory from happening? Remember, do not ignore bad behaviors. If you notice something wrong, try to fix it at the very beginning.

📖 dumping ground 垃圾場 bullying 霸凌 bully 霸凌者 ignore 忽視 behavior 行為

() 46. Which picture best shows the broken windows theory?

() 47. Which example can show the word follow suit?

(A) A cute dog was following my little brother all the way home.

(B) Mary's friends told her to try smoking, but she turned them down.

📖 turn down 拒絕

(C) When Jason saw someone drawing on the public bikes, he was very angry.

(D) A store was having big sales. Two days later, the other shops on the same street cut prices. 📖 cut prices 降價

() 48. What can we know from the reading?

(A) Ignoring bad behaviors is not that bad sometimes.

(B) James Q. Wilson's house windows were once broken by someone.

(C) Things will be better even if you do not fix them at the beginning.

(D) Group bullying is an example of the broken windows theory.

WISH FOR GOOD LUCK

The New Year is an important holiday that is celebrated around the world. People in different countries have their special customs to bring them good luck in the coming year. The following are some interesting examples.

Customs for the New Year
Spain On New Year's Eve, when the clock strikes midnight, people in Spain eat 12 green grapes, one at each strike. They believe that if they are able to finish them in time, they will have 12 months of good luck in the new year.	The Philippines For the new year, people in the Philippines eat round fruit, like apples, pears, and peaches because they look like coins. They believe that by eating something round, they will become rich and successful in the future.
Ways to bring good luck
Brazil To wish for good luck and peace in the coming year, people in Brazil wear white on New Year's Eve. On that day, millions of them gather at the beaches, and at midnight, they go into the ocean and then jump into seven waves, making a wish at each wave because seven is the magic number of the New Year.	Mexico To welcome the new year, people in Mexico bake a kind of sweet bread, in which they put a coin. The one who gets the slice with the coin in it is believed to be lucky in the coming year.

Which custom interests you most? Why not visit that country to experience a different way of welcoming the new year?
